

U. S. TO ASK AMERICAS TO AID PEACE MOVE IN MEXICO

SECRETARY LANSING WILL CONFER WITH SOUTH- ERN DIPLOMATS THURSDAY

Announcement States Nothing Can Be Said at the Present Time of the Details Which Will Be Considered—Ornelas Denies Villa Has Expelled Foreign Merchants from Chihuahua or That Any Were Executed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The United States has decided to ask the co-operation of South and Central America in the next step to restore peace to Mexico. The ambassadors from Argentina, Brazil, Chile and the ministers from Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala have been asked to confer with Secretary Lansing here Thursday.

State Department Announcement.

This announcement was made at the state department tonight: "On Thursday afternoon there will be an informal conference at the state department to consider the Mexican situation. Those taking part in the conference will be the ambassadors from Brazil, Argentina and Chile and the three ranking ministers of the American republics, namely those of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala. As to the details which will be considered nothing can be said at the present time."

While the state department characterized the coming conference as an informal one, the sentiment has been growing among American officials that the next step in the Mexican situation should be one which would meet the approval of the world and should be taken in concert with the nations of Central and South America, even if, in the last event, the trend should be toward military action.

The three ambassadors were mediators in the Niagara Falls conference in the summer of 1914. The three ministers are, in point of seniority, at the head of the Central American legation corps.

Acting As Mexico's Friend. Action in concert with the Central and South Americas would be in line with President Wilson's plan for a closer relationship between the United States and those countries and it is planned to show that the United States considers the Mexican question the common cause of the Pan-American group and that this government entertains no idea of territorial aggression but is acting solely as Mexico's nearest powerful friend and neighbor.

Those in closest touch with the Mexican question have been aware for some time that the views of the Pan-Americans were being taken into consideration and on various occasions have seen in the president's utterance evidences to that effect.

Professed to See Plan in Speech. Some of the closest observers of the Mexican situation as long ago as last March professed to see the president's plan for Pan-American co-operation when he delivered an address on the Argentine battleship Moreno and said:

"I feel that I am speaking the sentiments of my fellow countrymen when I say that there is a growing warmth of affection as well as understanding for the other countries of the great American hemisphere which we are coming daily to understand better and which, I hope, daily coming to understand us better and to which we are drawn by feeling as well as interest—by the desire to be comrades in some common understanding for humanity as well as neighbors. I want to express my feeling as president of the United States that we are rapidly approaching a day when the Americas will draw together as they never have drawn together before and that it will be a union not of political ties but of understanding and of mutual helpfulness."

It is believed the president then was thinking of Pan-American joint action with regard to Mexico, even to joint military operations, if necessary.

Do Not Expect Military Move. At this stage, however, it is not believed that military operations are being contemplated as a next step. The South and Central Americas have been keeping closely informed of the situation. In fact, the Brazilian minister in Mexico City has been the source to which the United States has turned during the last sixteen months for the care of the interests of Americans and foreigners in the distressed capital.

All the Pan-American governments have been receiving reports from their ministers and consuls. It is known, however, that if the situation should come to a pass where armed force might be necessary to open the railroad to Mexico City for protection of the legations and non-combatants, or should an armed occupation be necessary as a pledge to restoration of constitutional government and elections, the South and Central Americas probably would receive and welcome an invitation to share the work with the United States.

Leaders Ready to Embrace Plan.

How the factions in Mexico would regard such a joint action is a matter of dispute. On one hand the suggestion has been met with the declaration that some of the South American countries typified the so-called "Scientific" element. On the other hand the leaders have professed to be ready to embrace any plan for peace which included as its first object the maintenance of the territorial sovereignty of Mexico, free elections and restoration of the government to the constitutional line from which it departed with the death of President Madero and the ascendancy of Victoriano Huerta to a dictatorship.

The Thursday conference is the step President Wilson and the cabinet had in mind when, a short time ago, a statement was issued on the Mexican situation and intended for the information of the Mexican leaders themselves.

This statement declared in forceful language that the patience of the United States was becoming exhausted and chaos and that unless the Mexican leaders themselves found some way to accommodate their differences, the United States as Mexico's next friend and neighbor, would be constrained to decide what means should be employed to restore peace.

When President Wilson went to the summer White House at Cornish, N. H., it was expected that nothing would be done until his return. The recent almost kaleidoscope developments in Mexico City, however, are believed to have influenced the announcement of action at this time.

Reports Disturb Department. The state department was disturbed today by reports that General Villa had driven American and other foreign merchants from Chihuahua, confiscated their property and executed six of their Mexican colleagues. American consular agents were called upon for immediate reports. Protests came from diplomatic representatives of foreign powers.

Colville Barclay, in charge at the British embassy in the absence of the ambassador, called at the state department to protest against the reported seizure by Villa of property of British subjects and their expulsion from the country.

Carranza advisers here are hopeful that the United States soon will recognize a defacto government to be set up in Mexico City by Carranza's forces. If Carranza can carry out his program his advisers here believe he will be extended the moral support of the United States and of Latin America. Secretary Lansing, however, flatly denied today that plans for recognition of any government had been considered.

Villa Evacuates San Luis Potosi. The evacuation of San Luis Potosi by Villa's forces and its occupation by Obregon was officially reported.

Charles J. O'Connor, Red Cross agent in Mexico City reported food conditions there as alarming stating that some people were eating weeds, grass, leaves and dead horses and mules. The Red Cross statement adds:

"The message arrives, among other things, that Americans are in need of food in Mexico City and that they have deposited $6,000 with a Mexican City banking company and requested the Red Cross to purchase direct or through wholesale houses and ship under its protection a large quantity of ham, lard, bacon, condensed milk, dried beef, dried fruits, corned beef, oatmeal, baking powder, tea, cheese, corn meal, dried cod fish, salt and other groceries."

"As already stated the Red Cross is ready and anxious to aid in feeding the starving people in Mexico City just as quickly as it can receive favorable advices as to getting foodstuffs through."

Ornelas Denies Reports. EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 2.—A general denial that the foreign merchants were expelled by Gen. Villa, that there were any executions of Mexican merchants Saturday at Chihuahua City or that Gen. Villa used any "insolent" language toward the United States government, was made by Gen. Ornelas, commander of the Villa forces at Juarez, Mexico, tonight. Gen. Ornelas declared he had attended the conference of Gen. Villa and the merchants Saturday.

Gen. Ornelas declared that Gen. Fidel Avila, military governor of Chihuahua had received several complaints against merchants of Chihuahua City regarding the "exorbitant exaction" they were practicing with their goods, some of which were out of reach of the people, even the well to do. The representations made by Gov. Avila as well as the orders he dictated in the premises, said the statement, "Were not heard."

DEBERRY CONFESSES TO KILLING MRS. MARTIN

MURPHYSBORO NEGRO ATTRIBUTES DEED TO AN INDULGENCE IN DRINK

Tells Sheriff he Was "Gin Crazy" and She Made Him Mad When She Asked if He Was Drunk—Killed Woman With a Poker.

Murphysboro, Ill., Aug. 2.—Joe Deberry, the negro accused of killing Mrs. J. H. Martin, wife of a local attorney, last Friday afternoon, is said by the sheriff here to have admitted his guilt in a confession made Sunday night. He attributed the deed to an indulgence in drink.

Was "Gin Crazy." "I was gin crazy," Deberry is reported to have told the sheriff. "She made me mad when she asked if I was drunk. Then she refused to let me go down town until I had washed the luncheon dishes. That made me still madder. I waited until she went upstairs. I followed and killed her with a poker." Deberry was taken into custody immediately after the finding of the woman's body. To evade a mob which formed quickly, vowing vengeance, the sheriff took his prisoner in an automobile and left town hurriedly. Deberry was confined in a jail in another city for safe keeping.

Speaks Coolly of Deed. The story the negro is said to have told the sheriff was rendered the more glibly by the very coolness of his telling. Deberry spoke coolly of his deed, although it was evident that he was considerably wrought up by the close call he had when he escaped the mob that cried for his life.

"When she went up stairs I followed her," he is reported to have said. "I went into her room and she asked me what I wanted. I did not answer. She asked me again what I wanted. Then I struck her with a poker. I was mad. I was gin crazy." "She ran out into the hall and I followed. Out there I struck her twice more on the head with the poker. She fell down. Then I struck her many times. I don't know how many."

Washed Blood From Clothing. Deberry said that when Mrs. Martin's sister came shortly after the crime was committed he was down stairs washing the blood from his clothing.

"Were you angry at her because she had you sent to the reformatory for stealing her jewels?" the sheriff is reported to have asked. "Did you bear her malice?"

"No, I bore her no malice for that, because she had me paroled. I was just gin crazy. I was mad and so I killed her."

Both Mrs. Martin, who was popular here, and her husband had befriended the negro.

ALFRED SAMPSON SUICIDES.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., April 2.—While his wife was giving birth to a daughter in a local hospital, early today, Alfred Sampson, aged 50 years, committed suicide by shooting himself. Despondency over his inability to quit drinking was said to have been responsible for the act.

MORGAN RIZER DIES.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 2.—Morgan Rizer, for thirteen years city passenger and ticket agent for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad here, died suddenly at his home here today.

W. J. BOARDMAN DIES SUDDENLY.

Washington, Aug. 2.—W. J. Boardman, a retired business man, father of Miss Mabel Boardman, executive head of the American Red Cross, died suddenly today at his home.

ed, especially by some of the foreign merchants, who, shielded in their immunity as such foreigners and whose behavior was followed by the Mexican merchants, who insisted they had the same rights as the foreigners.

Says Villa Bought Stocks. "Gen. Villa, after studying the attitude of the merchants and the conditions of the people of Chihuahua summoned said merchants to a meeting and stated to them that in view of the resistance manifested by them in co-operation with the government of the state in smoothing out difficulties presented he had decided to intervene in foreign business houses, taking all their stock of merchandise for which he would pay cash the invoice prices, allowing them in addition 15 per cent. profit. The business houses of some of the Mexican merchants were also interfered with and some of the owners were jailed. It is untrue that there were executions or that Gen. Villa expressed any insolent word against the United States."

The confiscation of property of the merchants doing business in Villa territory and the execution of six Mexican merchants, imprisoned by the northern leader after a conference at which unsuccessful efforts were made to raise a forced loan, was reported today by persons arriving here from Chihuahua City where the conference was held.

During the conference, it was stated, Gen. Villa said "the American government can go to hell if it does not like my actions."

CHICAGOAN KILLS WIFE AND TWO RELATIVES

ENDEAVORS TO KILL SON BUT LAD MAKES ESCAPE

Drives to Home of Brother-in-law With Young Woman Who Knew Nothing of His Intentions—Wife Had Filed Suit for Divorce.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—A middle aged man drove up in front of the home of John Cosgrove here today and stopped. With him was a young woman not more than twenty-one years old. The man appeared perfectly cool and the young woman did not know that anything out of the ordinary was on his mind.

Leaving her in the car the man entered the Cosgrove home and remained but a few minutes. When he came out he climbed into the car and drove his companion to her home without saying a word. He appeared quite calm.

Son Escapes Through Back Door. In the Cosgrove home, however, he had shot to death his wife, his brother-in-law and his sister-in-law. He had endeavored also to kill his eighteen year old son, Harry, but the lad escaped by running out through the back door way and hiding in an alley.

The man's name is George H. Jones, a garage owner of this city. He is forty-eight years old. Today he was served with papers in a divorce suit filed by his wife. The young woman who accompanied him on his errand of death was Miss Margaret Bittner, over whom Jones and his wife are said to have become estranged.

Waives Writ Served by Officer. Entering the Cosgrove home Jones waived the writ which an officer had served upon his a little while before in connection with the divorce proceeding. He addressed his wife, who with her son, had taken refuge with her brother after leaving her husband.

Before she could speak a word Jones fired and she dropped dead at his feet. Her brother, John Cosgrove and her sister, Miss Catherine Cosgrove, started forward, protesting, horrified. Jones waved them back. They wheeled quickly and started to flee. Jones shot them down.

Harry Jones, the son, appeared in doorway and took in the situation. He fled in terror through the kitchen and escaped down an alley.

Shots Attract Crowd. A crowd was attracted by the shots and as Jones emerged from the house several persons started to intercept him. But he leaped into his car and was whirled away before anyone knew what had occurred. After taking his companion home he drove to his own residence and tried to end his life.

Miss Bittner, "the woman in the case," was taken into custody and is being held as a witness. She told the police that when she accompanied him to the Cosgrove home, she did not know Jones intended to kill any one.

STATE CLOSES CASE AGAINST FORMER CHICAGO DETECTIVES

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The state closed its case late today in the trial of former detective sergeants Walter O'Brien and William Egan, charged with accepting bribes. Judge O'Connor overruled a motion made by counsel for the defense asking the court to direct a verdict in favor of the accused men.

Earlier in the day Frank Ryan, former head of the "clairvoyant trust," again told of the raid on his establishment and seizure of the famous "red book" which contained names of "suckers" and its subsequent return to the clairvoyants in transaction in which Ryan testified he paid Egan, one of the defendants, $500.

ROBBED OF CLOTHING WHILE HE SLEPT

According to the Springfield papers a man by the name of Edward Maroney, a farm hand of Morgan county, went to Springfield Saturday night and fell in with two "good fellows" who robbed him of his clothing, while he was asleep behind a billboard at the corner of Ninth and Jefferson streets. He was discovered by Patrolman Jessburg and escorted to police headquarters, after the officer had secured some clothes for him.

FATE AGAINST THEM.

Two Jacksonville girls who were planning to go to Sinclair Sunday, set the alarm clock for 4:30 and when it went off, one of them got up and turned it off for a joke. Both slept until 8 o'clock, thereby they missed their train. They called up for a conveyance, which they found more expensive than by rail. To make more bad luck it rained and they did not get back to the city until 8 o'clock Monday morning and at their work at 10 o'clock.

ON CAMPING TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cox and daughters, Misses Irene and Florence and Miss Helen Jackson went Monday morning to Lake Mantanzas where all but Mr. Cox will spend a week at the Cottage known as Oak Lodge. Mr. Cox returned in the evening, but will rejoin his family next Saturday to remain over Sunday. They were joined at Litterberry by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McPhillin who expect to remain for some days at the cottage.

ASKS HABEAS CORPUS WRITS FOR INSPECTORS

JUDGE LANDIS WILL HEAR ARGU- MENTS IN CASE TODAY

Application is Filed After Counsel For Steamboat Inspectors Confer With Solicitor Thurman, Who Objects to Men Being Handcuffed to Deputy Sheriff.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Application for writs of habeas corpus for Robt. Reid and C. C. Eckliff, federal steamboat inspectors, was made today in the United States district court during the course of the investigation into the disaster which befell the steamer Eastern in the Chicago river a week ago last Saturday. Arguments will be heard tomorrow.

Application Follows Conference. The application for the writs was filed after counsel for the inspectors, who are being held in connection with the capsizing of the vessel, had conferred with Ira B. Mansfield, solicitor for the department of commerce. The men had been taken into custody on a corner's mittim after the coroner's jury had directed that they, with four others, be held to the grand jury. The inspectors, together with Ira B. Mansfield, inspector of hulls, of Chicago, were brought before Secretary Redfield. All three were handcuffed to deputy sheriffs. Redfield is conducting a hearing prescribed by the rules of the department of commerce and when he saw the inspectors in manacles he turned to Solicitor Thurman and held a whispered conference.

"If these government inspectors are to be handcuffed and be treated in this manner," Thurman asserted after the conference, "I shall start a fight for jurisdiction over them."

Hoynes Will Oppose Effort. State's Attorney Madley Hoynes was summoned to the Federal building to confer with United States District Attorney Cline and Solicitor Thurman. He was told that application would be made to the court for writs of habeas corpus. He replied that he would oppose any effort to remove Reid and Eckliff from the jurisdiction of the Illinois courts. He said he did not order the prisoners handcuffed. During the hearing Secretary Redfield read from instructions to steamboat inspectors a section which provides that a burden of proof shall be upon the inspectors to show that they are in no way responsible for any accident which may occur to steamers under their jurisdiction. The instructions were promulgated by Secretary Redfield Dec. 18, 1913.

In view of the orders issued by Judge Landis forbidding witnesses who may be heard by the Federal grand jury from testifying before other investigating bodies, it decided not to hear further evidence from Reid and Eckliff.

No bodies were recovered from the wrecked steamer today. The number of known dead remains at 829 and the list of missing still aggregates 142.

WORK OUT PLANS TO AID CROP MOVEMENT

RESERVE BOARD SENDS LETTER TO THE TWELVE REGIONAL BANKS

Points Out How Members of the Reserve System May Help to Finance Cotton. Devotes Most Attention to Cotton.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Preliminary plans designed to make available the resources of the Federal Reserve system, in the annual fall movement of crops have been worked out by the Federal Reserve Board. Writing to the twelve regional banks, the board pointed out in a letter made public today how members of the system may help to finance the crop movement.

The board's action was taken, the letter says, to forestall any possibility of congestion of crops this fall for lack of financial assistance to move and to avoid a recurrence of the stringency which in the past has marked this movement.

Devotes Most Attention to Cotton. Although the board applies its plan to wheat, corn and all other cereals, it devotes most attention to the cotton crop which, it says, is peculiarly sensitive to abnormal conditions such as now exist in the export trade.

"In view of the large surplus reserves now held by the Federal Reserve Banks by member banks and by other banks throughout the country," says the board's letter, "there should be no difficulty in affording the producers the assistance necessary to enable them to market their produce in volume corresponding to the power of the trade to absorb them."

"In order to accomplish this end, it is suggested that Federal Reserve Banks adopt a definite policy with reference to rediscounting paper secured by documents in satisfactory form, evidencing the ownership of stored agricultural products. Through such a policy, together with proper methods of warehousing, Federal Reserve Banks can be a potent factor in assisting the normal movement of staple agricultural products from the field to the factory or to the consumer."

Recommend Regulations.

"It is recommended that regulations governing the rediscount of notes covering advances on such products be issued by such of these Federal Reserve Banks, whose members are actively engaged in financing the movement of such crops to the market."

The board calls attention to its recent regulations as to trade acceptance, saying that such acceptance when growing out of transactions involving the movement of staple crops, are eligible for rediscount with the reserve banks and their acceptances hinder crop movements.

HEAR ARGUMENTS IN SUIT

GROWING OUT OF ALLEGED RIOTING

FORT SMITH, Ark., Aug. 2.—Arguments on the demurrer filed against the amended complaint of the Bache-Denman Coal company and allied corporations in a suit against the United Mine Workers of America were heard here today in the Federal court. The suit is an outgrowth of the alleged rioting in the Prairie Creek coal mining district a year ago. For the destruction of their plant at the time the company asks $1,283,820.

It was erroneously reported from here July 6 that the case had been dismissed. The court at that time sustained a demurrer by the defendants. The company immediately filed an amended petition.

LANSING STUDIES EUROPEAN NOTES

Documents from England and Germany Deal With Rights of Neutrals

THREE FROM ENGLAND

British Notes Defend Allies Efforts to Suppress Trade Between Enemies and Neutrals

GERMAN NOTE ON FRYE CASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Three notes from Great Britain and one from Germany, all dealing with the rights of neutral nations in war time were before Secretary Lansing tonight. Arrangements are being made for their publication simultaneously in Europe and America, in accordance with diplomatic etiquette.

The British notes probably will be given out for publication Wednesday morning and the German note for the following day.

Defends Effort to Suppress Trade.

The first British note is a long communication defending the allies' efforts to suppress trade between their enemies and neutral countries, even by the stoppage of abnormal commerce through the neutral countries of Europe adjacent to the Teutonic allies. Precedents of the international law established by the United States government itself during the Civil war and especially in the practical blockade of the Bermudas in order to cut off supplies from the Confederate states, are revived to support this assertion of right.

Amplify First Arguments.

The note has been long in preparation and was latered to meet the objection of the United States that previous British notes had dealt only with special cases of seizures and detentions of ships and cargoes under conditions that seemed to justify the British action, failing to answer the American contention that the whole process of interference with neutral commerce was in violation of international law. After it had been dispatched to Washington new conditions arose that led the British government to amplify its arguments. One of these new conditions was a strong protest by the state department against seizure of the American ship Neches, bound from Rotterdam for New York with a cargo of Belgian and German goods. British activities previously had been confined principally to holding up cargoes from America, ostensibly bound for neutral countries but alleged by the British to be actually destined for Germany or Austria. The Neches case made necessary a defense of the allies' right to cut off Germany's export trade to neutral countries and the financial benefit to be derived from that business.

Answers Caveat of July 17.

The second note of the series deals with this and it is understood that it sets up the contention that an actual blockade of the North Sea ports exists and that regardless of the British orders in council there is an inherent right in the blockading powers under international law to suppress traffic of this kind. The last note of the series is in reply to the American caveat of July 17 saying the United States would be governed only by the principles of international law in dealing with cases of detentions of American ships and goods and would not recognize the orders in council.

The British foreign office holds that the orders in council comply with the spirit of international law, although they make a new application of these principles to suit the new conditions developed in the war. British prize court proceedings, wherein the magistrates have assumed that the orders in council were in conformity with international law, provoked the American communication. The British contend that where international issues were pending before the United States courts that fact had been recognized by the London government as a reason for deferring diplomatic protests.

Points to Right to Review.

It is held that the United States government cannot assume that its merchants have suffered permanent injury, since there is always in reserve the right of diplomatic review of prize court decisions and even of arbitration under the special arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain recently perfected.

The German note, continuing the discussion over the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye by a German commerce raider, deals with the American contention that not only international law, but special provisions of the treaty of 1828 between the United States and Prussia had been violated.

The note makes no substantial

A Four Part Mutual Masterpiece.

This pretty film story reads like one of the old melo-dramas of our boyhood days. It tells the story of a daughter of a proud old general who elopes with a poor sea captain. The father disowns the daughter and makes a will leaving his property to Lennox Dunbar. His daughter's child, Beryl, calls on him and begs for assistance. The old general gives her some gold pieces and a necklace. Later he is found dead in his library with the imprint of an old andiron on his forehead. The will is missing and Beryl is arrested with the evidences of guilt on her person. At the trial Bert Darcy appears and tells that his grandfather seized the andiron to strike him when there came a terrific flash of lightning and he dropped to the floor dead. The picture of the scene was imprinted on the glass door of the library. Beryl offers to give up the estate to Lennox Dunbar but finds he loves her and the story ends happily as all good stories should.

His Last Melon.

There is something ludicrous and yet pathetic in the request made by Clint Williams, a young colored man who is to be executed Thursday at Ft. Worth, Texas, for murder. After his conviction and when he had been placed in his death cell Williams asked that he be given a watermelon each day until the last and the jail authorities have found pleasure in buying the largest possible melons for the prisoner. The request indicates the simplicity of Williams' mind and nature and one wonders if the world will be any better, or any great lesson will have been taught, when this eighteen year old offender against the laws of society has had his life taken away by law.

Closing Acreways.

In Quincy there is some consternation amongst property owners in the business district because of a recent order issued to close up open acreways. The order states that there is great danger from these openings and that space which belongs to the public is being occupied by stairways and windows. The order if it is carried into effect will result in a large amount of sidewalk and store front reconstruction. A like order was considered in Jacksonville several years ago, but it was found that it would work hardship without doing a vast amount of good and was not enforced.

Uncle Sam's New Explosive.

According to a high ranking officer of the General Staff, the United States army has a high explosive, which will surprise the world if ever it is called into use. At present this new explosive is being made only in U. S. arsenals, where the formula is carefully guarded. It would be particularly adapted to destroying trenches, according to the army officer. The General Staff has full information on the development of military science as resulting from the war in Europe. The American observers have watched the effect of the various explosives, particularly the mellinite shells used by Germany. The development of trench warfare has turned the attention of the American army officers to obtaining an explosive that would demolish trenches. That this has been found, and that it is far more effective than the officers had even hoped for, is the information given out.

England Recruiting U. S. Workmen.

The second batch of American artisans recruited for work in the shipyards and munition factories of England will sail tomorrow on the Adriatic. England is officially recruiting labor in New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities. The success of the recruiting is alarming manufacturers, who fear a labor famine. It is estimated that fully 300 skilled workmen from Philadelphia had gone to England within the past few months, all with guarantees of salaries of from $40 to $50 a week, for a full year, and with their passage furnished both ways.

The bidding for skilled workers has created a stir among American manufacturers. Wages have taken an upward turn in many factories where skilled men are employed, and efforts have been made to suppress the rumors of fat salary envelopes in British workshops.

The recruiting has been done by a representative of the Montreal office of the White Star line. This representative placed advertisements in the Philadelphia newspapers about two weeks ago, instructing mechanics applying for positions to write to the Montreal office of the steamship companies. About 300 letters were received by Philadelphia workmen, in reply to their applications, requesting them to meet "Mr. Wallace" at a Philadelphia hotel. The applicants as fast as they were accepted, were supplied with their passage and guarantees.

There is one advantage in the possible shortage of workmen in that it will afford the democrats an opportunity to boast about the great demand for labor.

Publicity for School Needs

Frank publicity in securing the co-operation of the community in the work of the schools is urged by W. S. Deffenbaugh, of the U. S. Bureau of Education, in a report on "School Progress in the Smaller Cities," just issued.

"School boards that are managing the schools ably and honestly do not fear to turn on the searchlight," declares Mr. Deffenbaugh. "The sentiment is growing among school boards that the public should know how its money is expended. In the most progressive schools, the board and the superintendent are presenting facts to the people either in printed reports, in newspaper articles, or by both."

"Some schoolmen, however, object to furnishing the newspapers with school information on the ground that they are thereby advertising themselves. A superintendent who was complaining about lack of interest among the parents in the schools of his city was asked whether he reported the progress of the schools through the local papers. He replied that he did not believe in advertising himself. He failed to grasp the idea that school news is not for the purpose of boosting a superintendent; besides being legitimate news, it calls attention to the needs of the work of the school so that the school may become more efficient.

"In several cities, as Fredonia, Kansas, there is an educational issue of the local paper. In some other cities there are daily school news notes. On the whole, the public is becoming better informed regarding the schools than it was a few years ago. The tendency is toward greater publicity by means of printed reports and newspaper articles."

Educating Railroad Men.

The Burlington railroad has long been considered one of the best managed systems in the country, and its officers are continually taking up progressive ideas which are considered stable and consistent with good business ideals. Recently President Holden of the Burlington has suggested to the heads of departments that every effort be made to recruit employees from those residing along the company's lines. He states that it is not only desirable to secure employees from the districts through which the company operates but also to enlist the interest of public school teachers in encouraging students to take up transportation work.

Mr. Holden believes that employees secured in this way from territory touched by the Burlington will become the most loyal workers and that by directing their training toward transportation work that the field will become attractive to them. Civil service is in operation on the Burlington in most of its departments and Mr. Holden argues that the field for transportation work really offers more opportunities than many others upon which less emphasis has been made. In support of his argument he mentions the fact that various schools and universities now offer transportation courses where men may be trained in railroad work.

The Cost of War.

Europe completes tomorrow one full year of war. The anniversary will be one of mourning throughout the world. King George, of England, it is said, in the cable dispatches, will attend St. Paul's Cathedral, with the other leaders of Great Britain, to invoke God's help. Other rulers and leaders will hold similar ceremonies. It is expected, and Aug. 4 will bring no joy to these solemn gatherings. The day is likely to force a retrospect in the minds of the European rulers. The nefarious work of a year has wrought many changes. There is no country in Europe that has benefited. The victories of warfare that assuage much of the human grief are lacking. Brilliant achievement, and valiant sacrifice have marked the conduct of the war from all quarters.

The war thus far has been a draw, in the eyes of disillusioned observers. All of the terror, the suffering, the toll of death and the impoverishment of great nations has gone for naught. The map of Europe remains practically unchanged.

But Europe is in economic ruins. Germany's great industries are broken, her trade wiped out. Her industries were the very foundation of her greatness. France and Russia are heavy sufferers economically, in their agriculture and building industries. England, though less affected, is owing to her geographical situation and the calmness of her people, has had a growing problem to face.

The cost of war is untold. Suffering, either mental or physical, cannot be figured. This, the greatest curse of war, is spread far and wide, through Europe and the possessions of European empires. Allied with it is the drain on the manhood of Europe, the constant elimination of the fittest of the human species. Next to the horror, the awful suffering of the present, must be figured that great loss to future humanity, when offspring must come from the least fitted of the species.

Rectifying Former Acts.

To one not versed in law, the action taken by the Board of Education Monday night, seems to render futile the quo warranto proceedings which are to be heard in the Circuit court today. The quo warranto petition, brought into question, the legality of the action of the Board, taken at the May third meeting, when Supt. Collins and the various teachers were appointed. It set forth that no quorum of the Board was present, at that meeting and some other allegations were made. As a result of the petition, a resolution was passed last night, whereby Supt. Collins and all the teachers were appointed.

There can be no question as to the legality of the appointments made last night for the entire membership of the board was present and when a tie came, Mayor Rodgers cast his vote in the affirmative. The record of the action sounds very simple indeed, and if since this very result had been forecasted days ago, one cannot but wonder at the talk and turn of events. There has been over these very appointments. Had members Imburg and Rogerson withdrawn from the meeting before a vote was called upon the resolution, the question of the legality of the president of the board and two members constituting a quorum, would have been one for the courts to decide, but with all five members present to the non-legal mind, there seems no issue for court settlement other possibly than the matter of court costs.

If this proves to be a correct view of the case, when the court has ruled today, it is not unreasonable to hope that the members of the board of education will at least seem to forget past differences, bury all dissensions and work together for the constant betterment of the schools during all the remaining life of the present board. No one will deny the right of a majority to rule, with a complete board membership present, and this very fact gives ground for the hope already expressed, that unity of action will now prevail instead of discord and strife.

THAT PETITION.

Editor Journal:

When I came to Jacksonville in 1857, I inquired about the place and was told that it had schools and colleges, and was called the Athens of the West. But said my informant, "You will find more fools here for same amount of population than any place in the United States." I had forgotten the circumstance until it was brought back to my memory by seeing the wonderful petition and signatures in the Sunday Journal. And I wondered if what I had been told so many years since, had been really true, and they had not increased, as to amount to 1700. Of course you must make allowance for at least one third who would sign the petition without reading it, if brought by a friend, even if the petition desired that they should be sent to the county jail.

The grafter, he reads and signs gladly, as he is out of business for the last four years and the same is true of those who want licensed saloons, and then we have quite a large number of colored people who do not think and a lot more of whites who do not care. Then all who have lost their jobs, can be counted as they think that a city government exists to give them easy places. So all the discontented have come to the help of this modern David, William N. Haigrove, who should be in Mexico. There he would be in his element, as the people in Mexico want a change in the form of government every 90 days. Now when every progressive city, is changing to the commission form, so that their affairs will be conducted in a business like manner, these petitioners want to go backward, to ward alderman and mayor. Remember the last 15 years we had them, with their incompetency, and the carnival that prevailed, left us a big debt, as their memorial, when we voted them out. It is a wonder that we think that people who really want to go back, to the old form need a conservator. Newcomers look at some of our pavement. The property holders paid for the best and the contractor was allowed to put down what he pleased and perhaps divided profits with others.

Now it is true that the past four years are not what they should have been, but the fault was that we did not as a whole elect the right men. They voted themselves the largest salaries, but even then the new form was a great improvement. More recently the voters elected a high class body of men and they will give us a local government we can be proud of. They are enforcing the laws, with a new set of policemen. New brooms sweep clean. It is not business to keep the same policemen too long. They found that so in Chicago and New York. The old policemen were getting rich and the laws were not enforced. Now this talk of changing back to the old form is a disgrace to our civilization and would make us the laughing stock of the whole state.

MORE COMPLETE CEMETERY RECORDS ARE PLANNED

Maps of Sewerage and Light Systems Are Also to Be Prepared—Monthly Reports of Officers—Coal Bids Received.

The first regular meeting of the city council for August was held Monday morning at the usual hour. Commissioner Cox is out of the city and was not in attendance. The ordinance providing for the paving of S. Main street from Morton avenue to Michigan avenue was given a second reading and adopted. Coal bids were received and referred to Commissioner Vasconcellos. Mayor Rodgers referred to the lack of records at the two cemeteries and said that he contemplated the introduction of some bookkeeping system which will provide a satisfactory record. Following the reading of the minutes by Mr. Pyatt, Mayor Rodgers said that he had been handed a letter by Mr. Imgrund of the C. P. & St. L. shops which the general manager of the C. P. & St. L. had just issued to agents. This letter directs the agents that no further shipments of liquor for Jacksonville will be accepted by the C. P. & St. L. There is no statement accompanying this letter and so it is not known whether the management was influenced by a belief that the road is violating a law when it accepts such shipments or whether the order was the result of a determination to follow what the road management believes to be the general wishes of the majority of the people of the city.

In reference to the absence of records at the two cemeteries, Mayor Rodgers said it was impossible for new sextons to tell the names of the owners of the different lots or the names of persons buried. He said that it was his intention to immediately take steps for the proper keeping of records at both cemeteries and that his idea was to have a book with a separate page for each lot showing the name of the owner and the names of the persons buried there, the date of burial and data of this character. Mr. Pyatt said that there had been some record kept at Diamond Grove cemetery but unless it was at the office there he did not know of its whereabouts. Mr. Rodgers mentioned also the fact that the city has no correct plat showing the sewers or street lighting system.

Later in the session Commissioner Vasconcellos said that it was his expectation to have had a plat of sewers and light system by this time but that the city engineer had been so busy with paving matters that he had been unable to give this attention. Commissioner Martin reported the purchase of a Ford touring car which is to be equipped with Babcock extinguishers and some other equipment for quick service in fire fighting. Mr. Vasconcellos reported that there was again some trouble with the small motor attached to the centrifugal pump at the north side station. ### FORMER BOARD ACTION RATIFIED

SUPT. COLLINS AND VARIOUS TEACHERS RE-APPOINTED ON MONDAY NIGHT.

Resolution Embodying This Action Passed by a Majority Vote—Members Imgrund and Rogerson Entered Vain Protest—Independence School Will Be Opened as Usual This Fall—Two Teachers Resignations Accepted.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education Monday evening a resolution was presented and adopted by the board ratifying the action taken by two members and the president at the meeting of May 3, relative to the appointment of teachers. The resolution was presented by Member Clampit, chairman of the teachers and salaries committee. This resolution is given elsewhere and in its preamble says that it is the desire of the board to not hamper the schools by any illegal act. When roll was called on the motion Members Imgrund and Rogerson voted in the negative and Members Clampit, Wells and President Rodgers in the affirmative.

The meeting referred to in the resolution which was held May 3, is the one at which Members Clampit and Wells and President Rodgers made teachers appointments, President Rodgers ruling that a quorum was present and assuming that he had the right to vote. Members Imgrund and Rogerson were absent from the meeting and recently filed quo warranto proceedings to test the legality of the meeting. The matter is to come up today before Judge Burton. By its action Monday evening the board merely ratifies the action taken at the May meeting.

When the motion was made by Member Clampit and seconded by Member Wells that resolution be adopted President Rodgers called for remarks. Member Imgrund and Member Rogerson entered a protest and said they did not think it was advisable at this time. What they wanted to prove was that the meeting was either legal or illegal and they were willing to abide by the decision of the court and meet with the other members immediately and appoint teachers. Attorney William N. Hargrove came into the council chamber after the resolution had been adopted. The board also by a unanimous vote also decided to reopen the independence school.

The usual routine business was carried out without much delay but some time was taken up hearing from representatives of manufacturers of brushes, disinfectants and supplies for which bids had been asked.

The Proceedings.
Roll called showed all members present. President Rodgers in the chair. The resignations of Misses Lula Clark and Ruth Miller were received and accepted.

The clerk read a report of the casualty company of inspection of boilers in the various school buildings. It was received and placed on file.

Claims were ordered paid when funds are available.

The claim of G. A. Selber was then taken up and was ordered paid when funds are available.

Reports of officers were read and were received and placed on file.

Member Wells, chairman of the eighth grade committee, reported that the name plate had been placed on the David Prince school.

Member Clampit then offered the following resolution.
To the President and Members of the Board of Education:

That Whereas, at the regular stated meeting of the Board of Education held in the City of Jacksonville, state of Illinois, on May 3, 1915, a quorum was announced present,

And Whereas, this being the regular and usual time for the appointment of all teachers and other employees for the ensuing year,

And Whereas, in conformity with that custom the chairman of the teacher's committee made his report and recommendations to the Board, which was adopted,

And Whereas, since the action of the business transacted by the members present at this meeting held May 3, 1915, has been questioned as to its legality,

And Whereas, than in order to accomplish the best results, determines entirely upon the attitude and action of the Board of Education,

And Whereas, it is the will of the chairman of the teacher's committee and I trust of the other members of the Board, that our schools should not be hampered nor the progress of opening the city schools be delayed for any purpose whatever,

And Whereas, that owing to the financial condition of the Board of Education, it has been deemed wise and consistent, that this Board should economize in many ways, where it does not materially effect the standard and progress of our schools by making some reduction in our administration force. Transferring and such other changes as suggested will in my judgment, with the hearty co-operation of the entire faculty and the faithful support of the Board of Education, have a successful school year.

Therefore, be it Resolved, that, as the regular time for opening the schools of the city is the first Monday in September, that we do now appoint for the ensuing school year, and I beg to submit for your earnest consideration and recommend the following:

An answer to the British notes soon will be forthcoming, as officials here have been prepared to some extent for the presentations made today and have gathered material in rebuttal. Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

PHOTO PLAYS

A photoplay is one of those silences that is golden. Whereas an actor can talk and wearout his durable lungs for twenty-five years and then go into bankruptcy with large liabilities, a photoplay can pull in a wash-golden day without saying a word.

Thousands of skilful mechanics are now at work with pencils on the back of an old envelope and turning them into films. A good photoplay is a couple of miles long. But it isn't as long, at that, as some of the speeches in Hamlet.

It costs $2 and carriage fare to see a famous play with words, and 10 cents to see the same play with the words omitted. This is why millions of people are flocking to the moving picture palaces while the treasurer of the legitimate theatre has so little to do that he forgets to be cold and aloof when a customer comes in.

This is a sad condition and one which leads us to wonder if speech is all it is cracked up to be after all. Perhaps a large number of political candidates who have talked their way through a stricken state and have reaped only campaign bills and unclassified regrets from the effort, would have succeeded better if they had put themselves into a film and had hired a husky villain representing the trust to hang them on the head with a club.

And maybe some young man who has talked for two years to a beautiful girl without any particular result will soon discover that if he will illustrate in a three reel film the luxuries of future life with him, he will dazzle her with his new-found eloquence.

In the photoplay we are transported swiftly from luxury to poverty, from comedy to drippy tragedy, and from the wild and uncombed west as represented by a New Jersey hillside, to the auriferous luxuries of New York as represented by a hired eleven-room house in Hoboken. Heroines pass rapidly in and out of the jaws of lions and are blown from steamships without material damage, while the movie hero who can't shin up a church spire, grab a passing aeroplane by the tail and escape over Niagara Falls is a poor and timid performer and will get nowhere in his art.

Maybe this is why the movie play is so popular after all. If anyone attempted to stage a good movie play with real actors in a real theatre he would have to renew the cast three times a week.

WILLIAM DUNLAP DIED SUDDENLY SUNDAY

Long Time Resident Closed Active
Life After Brief Illness—Had Wide
Reputation as Judge of Cattle.

William Dunlap, one of Jacksonville's best known citizens died at his home, 525 West College street Sunday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock. Mr. Dunlap had been sick only about two weeks and the news of his death will come as a great shock to his many friends, most of whom did not even know that he was ill. About two weeks ago Mr. Dunlap was taken ill with fever. He was confined to the house but had apparently improved. Saturday he was able to attend to some business and wrote several checks. Later he became worse and had hemorrhages of the bowels and also of the stomach. It was the opinion of his physician that the hemorrhages were caused from an abscess of the gall duct. He grew worse until death came.

William Dunlap was probably one of the best known cattle dealers in the middle west. He was the son of Judge Stephen and Dickey Ankle Dunlap who were among the pioneer settlers of the county. His father was a noted cattle raiser along with the Browns and Alexanders of the east part of the county. Judge Dunlap was the first man to raise thorough bred short horn cattle in the county.

William Dunlap therefore was practically raised in the cattle business. He loved cattle and made that his specialty. He was considered the best judge of cattle in Morgan county and one of the best judges in the state. For several years he was at the National Stock Yards in Chicago engaged in cattle buying. For the last twenty five years he has made a specialty of fattening cattle for the market and has been wonderfully successful.

About fifteen years ago Mr. Dunlap became associated with his nephew, M. F. Dunlap in farming and the cattle business. They had a large farm near Paris, Mo., where they kept a large amount of stock and also had interests in the east part of the county. They have sent some of the best cattle to the Chicago market in the last fifteen years that have been shipped from any section of the country.

Mr. Dunlap was born October 13, 1842 and would have been seventy-three years of age the coming October. He was a man of robust constitution and was more active than most men of only half his age. His mother, Mrs. Dickey Dunlap lived to the age of 101 years. The deceased resembled her in many respects and his friends thought that he would live for many years. Mr. Dunlap was a most companionable man. He loved the society of young men and was never happier than with those younger than himself and he was always the life of every gathering. He formed many warm friendships with younger men and more than one was glad to know that William Dunlap was his friend. His death is a loss to the community and those who have been associated with for many years will miss him as the time goes by.

September 18, 862 Mr. Dunlap was united in marriage to Miss Emma S. Happy. From this union three children were born. Samuel died Aug. 12, 1900. Two daughters, Le-

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

FROST, BLACKRUST AND WET WEATHER RAISE WHEAT PRICE

Market Closes Strong at a Net Advance—Corn and Oats Also Wind Up With a Gain.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Frost, black rust and wet weather left no chance today for the bears in wheat. The market closed strong at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 net advance. Corn wound up with a gain of 1/2 to 3/4 and oats of 1/4 to 1/2. Provisions finished unchanged to 1/2 to 1/4 higher.

For a while considerable selling of wheat resulted from a liberal increase of the domestic visible supply total. At another time the bears were somewhat aggressive because of an estimate credited to high authority that the yield in the United States this season would amount to a billion bushels, a sum never before equalled. On the downturns buyers came back with such force, however, that the close was at top-most point reached.

Corn was swayed mainly by the strength of wheat. Bearish crop estimates though were effective to some extent in checking the advance. In the oats market firmness resulted from reports of rain interference with the harvest. Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska sent many complaints of the grain sprouting in the shocks.

Higher prices for hogs tended to lift provisions. Figures on contract stocks here turned out to be larger than had been generally expected.

HUNDREDS OF WOMEN nowadays are entering the professions or business world and go to work day after day in bad health, afflicted with some female ailment, dragging one foot wearily after the other, working with an eye on the clock, and wishing for closing time to come.

Women in this condition should take Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable compound, made from roots and herbs. It has brought health and happiness to more women in America than any other remedy. Give it a trial.—Adv.

LAND O'NOD STORIES

THE GRAVE DIGGER

"Ho, ho, ho," laughed Tinker Tee-die Tee, when a big clumsy beetle flew in Billy's face, frightening him so that he fell over backward onto a bed of moss that replaced the snow drifts when Spring arrived, driving Old Father Winter back to his home at the North Pole and changing the White Forest back to the Greenwood. "I see the Sexton Bug is around again. Now I wonder if he is merely out for a stroll or has some business to attend to."

"Well, I hope he has some other business than going around bumping into people," grumbled Billy Be By Bo Bum, picking himself up from the bed of moss.

"He has," replied the merry little elf. "The Sexton Bug is the official undertaker and grave digger of the big woods. Whenever one of the Little People dies, there would not be any funeral at all if it wasn't for the Sexton Bug."

"Do you see any green in my eye?" demanded Billy. "You can't make me believe a bug can dig a grave large enough to hold a mosquito, let alone one of the Little People."

"Oh can't he," retorted Tinker. "Well unless I am very much mistaken."

But Billy interrupted him by saying: "Oh, look Tinker, there is a dead field mouse under that skunk cabbage."

"Yes, and here come the Sexton Bugs to bury him," answered the elf, as two big beetles dropped to the ground and crawled under the skunk cabbage. "Now, Billy Boy, you will see for yourself just how they conduct a funeral in the Greenwood."

So Billy and Tinker sat down on a log and watched to see what would happen. They did not have long to wait, for the beetles, without wasting any time, went straight to work. Crawling under the body of the poor dead mouse they began to dig, and before long they had thrown out quite a fair sized pile of dirt. Then two more Sexton Bugs dropped to the ground and joined in the work, making the dirt fly like sixty. For nearly an hour Billy and Tinker watched them, and they worked so hard and so fast that at the end of that time they had hollowed out quite a hole under the mouse.

"If you come along here tomorrow looking for that mouse, you wouldn't find him," said Tinker. "By that time he would be buried good and deep, and the earth piled back in the grave, covering up the body so you could hardly tell where the funeral had been held."

"But why do they want to bury him?" asked Billy.

"They are prompted by instinct," replied Tinker. "But what is instinct?" persisted Billy. "Instinct is what makes an animal, or a man do something without thinking. It is a trait inherited from your ancestors. If you fall into the water, you don't have to stop and think what to do, you just start swimming for shore. That is instinct. And so it is with animals. They do lots of things without knowing why they are doing them, or without stopping to think about it. Things that they must do to live and prosper in the big woods, and that is instinct."

"Now, when Mr. Mouse is safely buried, Mrs. Sexton Bug will lay her eggs on his body, so when the eggs hatch out the baby beetles, who, when they are first born, are nothing but grubs, will have plenty to eat until they grow wings and can take care of themselves."

"But there is another reason why the Sexton Bugs go around digging graves for the Little People. You see, Billy Boy, if a dead animal is not buried it soon decays and smells badly and often breeds disease. So Old Mother Nature picked out the Sexton Bugs to be her undertakers and keep the Greenwood free from any dead body."

"I don't see how the Sexton Bugs know when one of the Little People dies," said Billy.

"That is one of the mysteries of Nature," answered the elf. "It is one of the things no one can explain. Now down South the Turkey Buzzards are the official undertakers, and when ever an animal dies they are always on hand to dispose of the body. Maybe a Turkey Buzzard hasn't been seen in the neighborhood for years, but if a dead animal is left in the fields, it won't be long before a whole flock of Buzzards arrives to attend the funeral."

"But where do they come from?" "A Turkey Buzzard's eyes are something like telescopes and he can see a long distance. So when he is hungry he flies up and up until he is out of sight, lost in the clouds, but his eyes are so sharp he can see everything on the earth below him. Around and around he soars in a wide circle until at last he sees a dead animal on the ground. Then he swoops down and his flight attracts the attention of the next Buzzard, who may be miles away. So he starts, and the Buzzard next to him sees something going on and he follows the other two. So in a few minutes a whole flock of undertakers is on hand for the funeral, and when they leave the bones of the dead animal are picked clean."

Portrait of Gen. Rawlins for Historical Society.

Gift Made By General Wilson, of Wilmington, Del.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 2.—An oil portrait of Gen. John Aaron Rawlins, adjutant general and chief of staff for Gen. U. S. Grant has been presented to the state historical society. It was announced today by Mrs. Jessie Palmer Weber, the secretary.

The painting, the work of a thus far unidentified artist of Chicago, was done at the close of the Civil war. Later the portrait came into the possession of J. Russell Jones, of Chicago, who in turn gave it to Gen. James Harrison Wilson, U. S. A., retired, who turned it over to the State Historical society. Gen. Wilson is now living in Wilmington, Del.

In a note to Mrs. Weber, General Wilson said he never had been able to decipher the name of the artist but knew the name to be that of a Pole. Mrs. Weber said that the portrait would be restored carefully and she hoped then to learn the name of the painter. Gen. Rawlins is depicted as a full bearded man in the uniform of a major general of the army.

MAKES DANDRUFF QUICKLY VANISH.

No one likes dandruff, but to get rid of it you must do more than wash your hair. The cause of dandruff lies not in the hair, but on the scalp and in the hair roots, and just as twice daily you use a germicidal tooth powder or cream to cleanse your teeth of germs, so you should use Parisian Sage twice daily to drive dandruff from your scalp, prevent its return, protect your hair from falling out and nourish its proper growth. Dandruff makes your hair fall out. Parisian Sage makes dandruff fall out and your hair stay in.

A delightfully perfumed hair and scalp treatment easily applied at home, very inexpensive and obtainable from Coover & Shreve or at any drug or toilet counter.—Adv.

In making the above recommendations, it is entirely for the purpose of dispensing or decreasing the administration force and thereby reducing expenses.

By creating a Grade Supervisor, we are advancing on Educational lines and Miss Lusk is to give special attention to all subjects in the grades, except music and art. The teachers filling these places work together in supervising the entire work of the grades. That the Grade Supervisor be required to teach one class each semester in the High School, to be known as the Teachers' Training Class, using Psychology, Pedagogy, History of Education or such other subjects as we suggest.

That Miss Helen Cafky, the assistant Principal of the Central Buildings, be required to teach at least two classes.

That Mr. Huber in addition to his regular work be given the title of Athletic Director, and be required to do all the coaching of our teams in connection with our athletic associations.

The discontinuance of the Professional Nurse at this time is on account of our finances, and in part, it is the opinion of your Chairman that we cannot legally employ a Professional Nurse, unless she were appointed as an instructor and complied with the State requirements as such, and be entirely under the supervision of the Board of Education. However, this matter can be taken up with the Health authorities of the city, and if a Professional Nurse can be employed in accordance with the provisions of the law, it will meet with my hearty approval.

I also recommend that each ward principal be required to teach half time and that each ward be supplied with a substitute teacher to assist the principal as she may direct.

Respectfully submitted,

Member Clampt, seconded by Member Wells, moved the resolution be adopted.

Member Imgrund said he did not think the matter should be up at this time. He was of the opinion that the court should settle the legality of the meeting inasmuch as there had been so much talk about the action of the members of the board at that time. He said he was willing to abide by the court decision no matter what it was.

Member Rogerson said it had always been customary for all of the members of the board to meet in the selection of teachers. He was of the opinion that no two members of the board had a right to take action on all appointments and then expect their action to be ratified in open meeting. Member Rogerson also thought it funny that the resolution should be brought up at this time when the two members had been contending that their action was legal.

Member Clampt said he had not consulted the members of the board as to teachers and salaries because on several occasions teachers who were looking for appointments had been told that it was his fault that they were not appointed. Member Clampt said that the members who had taken action at the May meeting still thought they were right and were only taking this action to prevent the schools from being handicapped.

Roll call was then taken and was as follows: Members Clampt, Wells, Hayes, 2. Members Imgrund, Rogerson, says, 2. President Rodgers voted in the affirmative and declared the motion carried.

Member Wells seconded by Member Rogerson moved that the Independence school be reopened in September. On roll call the motion carried unanimously.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for coal and for a new heating system at the Franklin school. Bids to be in by Aug. 10. Member Wells announced that the plans and specifications would be on file at J. K. C. Pierson's office Wednesday.

When the opening of bids for chemicals, general supplies and janitors' supplies came up it was the sense of the board that the bids should be made separately and action was deferred until Aug. 10. The bidders were instructed to submit samples of what they proposed to furnish in everything except chemicals and chemical apparatus.

There being no further business the board on motion adjourned.

THE HARDEST RAIN IN MANY YEARS

BROOK HIGHEST SINCE '93, OLD RESIDENTS AGREE.

Washout at Neeleyville Delays Wash Six Hours—Thirty Minutes of Torrential Downpour Turns Streets of City into Rivers—Partial Darkness in Residence Section.

The hardest rain storm in many years struck Jacksonville Monday evening at a quarter of seven o'clock and within thirty minutes sufficient water fell to turn almost every street into a veritable river. The light plant for a few minutes was severely threatened and with the best of work the residence section was in partial darkness for a time. Cellars all over Jacksonville were flooded and considerable losses were sustained by several business houses.

The 9:45 passenger train on the Washout was delayed for more than six hours at Bluffs by a washout at Neeleyville. The creek which parallels the track at that place for several miles was far over its banks and repair of the roadbed proved a difficult task.

When water began to pour into the basement of the main office building at J. Capps and Sons, the fire department was called and for forty-five minutes firemen, Capps' employees and volunteer helpers from the neighborhood worked to save the stock of linings and other goods stored there. So well was the work done that the water did not reach a great depth and members of the firm were not inclined to think the loss very great.

Two to three inches were the estimates made of the amount of rainfall. One and a quarter inches was reported from Alexander, but the local nature of the rain makes that figure of doubtful value for Jacksonville. In Liberty but a moderate amount of rain fell, though two miles east of that village the down-pour was much greater.

Brook Breaks Records. Since 1893 the brook has never been higher than it was Monday night, say a number who reside in the stream's vicinity. During the rain, West Street ran high deep for the automobiles which ran precipitately for cover. Church street was no better and boys waded breast deep on South Diamond street as soon as the storm was over. Through the East College avenue subway, water ran eight feet deep and so high did the torrent rise that Hardin avenue was flooded by the back-flow.

The Piepenbring grocery on East State street suffered considerable damage and Elliecock's store on S. Church street received four feet of water in the basement. Stacks of canned goods in the cellar of Hall's cafe were undermined and mingled in one general confusion. M. E. Gilbert lost some stock from the same cause.

Anderson Mosely, residing on S. Kosciuszko street, near the brook, had some hogs drowned. Several colored families along Edgmon street, were almost compelled to vacate their dwellings.

Leslie Wylder and family were compelled to leave their cottage on the south bank of the brook on Church street and at the home of Mrs. Fanny Sargeant on South West street, the brook overflowed into the cellar. Water was four feet deep in the back yard of J. J. Brennan almost a block from the stream. J. M. Donovan, a long time resident of Anna street, says the water has not been so high in that vicinity for more than twenty years.

Water did considerable damage at Brook mills and made necessary the removal of quite a large amount of stock. Fortunately a number of men were available for this work.

Water ran into the cellar of the Journal office building and a large amount of paper stock was damaged. A car load of paper was recently unloaded and many of the rolls were water soaked on one end. The exact loss cannot be determined until the effort is made to run each roll through the press.

The Sunday Rain. A rainstorm of less magnitude, but no less sudden in its appearance, struck the city at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. This storm was much more local in its distribution. A short distance west of town no effects of rain were apparent, while in some sections to the east, water came down in considerable quantity.
